

Everything

Everything comes as it must come You dream your life and rush like everyone

To catch the moment, grasp some luck things go well than you get stuck your happy, lonely, restless, worried you feel free and then just buried

But listen to your heart
don't you tear apart
It's not always fair
but wherever you are believe that

Everything comes as it must come
You find a friend and lose another one

At first immortal than just old Glowing lips and sudden cold
The wings of love and all its pain You tumble, isn't life insane?

But listen to your heart
don't you tear apart
It's not always fair
but wherever you are believe that
